NEW YORK, June 13.—Revised reports today from Sunday's storm indicated that from 55 to 60 persons had perished in the tempest which swept the metropolitan area, and took its greatest toll among boating parties at City Island.

Last night it was reported that about three score bodies were in morgues scattered along the coast, but this morning it was found that in certain cases where transfers had been made names had been duplicated.

At one time the revised list was reduced to 45, but several missing were found dead but not reported until later. Occasionally bodies were washed up by the incoming tide.

At noon the count of the known dead stood at 55 with many more still missing.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The death list resulting from the cyclonic storm that smashed and swirled its way through New York and its suburbs Sunday evening continues to grow. The known dead now total 45, with 16 other persons reported missing.

Police launches continued to grapple today for bodies of those still missing. At least 40 visitors to City Island were drowned in the disturbance and police are confident the death list will reach as high as 70. It will be days before the total loss of life will be known.

Grand Jury Busy

The Bronx grand jury has started the investigation of the wrecking of the ferris wheel at Clason's Point, in which seven were killed and 40 others seriously injured. The owner, who was arrested after the tragedy, will face the grand jury.

Property damage resulting from the winds will run into millions. Electric light and power lines are down for miles around. The loss of plate glass is only exceeded by the Black Tom explosion, according to insurance companies covering such risks. Freaks of the storm are constantly appearing. A roof of a church in Yonkers was lifted by the gusts of wind and dropped onto a passing automobile, containing five persons. Rescuers tore away the timbers and found that no one was hurt.

Mystery Girl' Now Known To Be Dolly
Wilson of Oklahoma

(By the Associated Press)
MEMPHIS, June 13.—Positive identification of Miss Dolly Wilson of Oklahoma City, the "mystery girl" who was found unconscious in the streets here Thursday, was made today when it was found that the relatives who she told hospital authorities she was visiting here lived not at the address she gave in Memphis, but at the same address in St. Louis.

How Miss Wilson came to be in Memphis instead of St. Louis neither the nor police had been able to determine. Physicians at the hospital where she is staying, still in a serious condition, say that the girl is probably a victim of anesthesia. She will be returned to her uncle in St. Louis as soon as she is able to travel.

FACTORY WHISTLES, NOT WEDDING BELLS
GREET COUPLE AT "GOLDEN RULE" PLANT

Factory whistles shrieked where wedding bells should have chimed when Albert Nash, "Golden Rule Jr.", married Miss Bertha Fisher in the Cincinnati, O., clothing factory owned by his father, "Golden Rule" Nash, so named because of his concern for his employees. Young Nash met his bride in the plant where both were employed.

PAVING OF 17TH STREET STARTED

Thirty Men Are Employed
On Big Improvement
Project Today.

Paving of one block on West Seventeenth street started at 1:00 o'clock this afternoon under the direction of I. E. Hansen, contractor, and is scheduled to go forward rapidly, looking toward the opening of work on the South Townsend avenue stretch within a few days.

30 men are being used on the work. The joint projects constitute one of the biggest street improvements undertaken in months here. The last one was a stretch of six blocks on North Mississippi avenue.

Street Commissioner Walter Smith said this afternoon shortly after workmen started breaking the ground for paving the 100 block on West Seventeenth street, that he understood they would next start on Townsend avenue at Twentieth street, pushing northward as rapidly as possible. This stretch will connect the main section of town with the Cotton Belt highway and will lead past the new court house and the new Memorial Convention hall between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets.

Ada now has nearly three miles of paving, according to city commissioners. The new improvement will increase this by nearly 25 percent.

WEEKS COMBATS ARGUMENTS FOR NO ARMED FORCE

(By the Associated Press)
WEST POINT, June 13.—Assertions that the United States does not need an army were met today by Secretary Weeks of the war department in an address at the graduation exercises of the United States military academy with the statement that "the civilization of the world rests on no firmer foundation than did the civilization of Boston, at the time of the police strike there nearly three years ago."

"If it were not for the restoring force of the military establishments of the nations of the world," he declared, "an indescribable state of chaos would result and civilization would be rapidly terminated through self destruction."

To say that the United States does not need an army is as reasonable as to say that Chicago, Boston, New York and other larger cities of the United States do not need police forces, he declared.

AGED WOMAN IS IN ONE CHURCH
OVER 69 YEARS

CLEVELAND, June 13.—There is slight difference between church attendance now and seventy-three years ago, when she attended her first Sunday school at Old Stone church, according to Mrs. Martha Evers. Although 89 years old, Mrs. Evers may be found worshipping at the same church on any Sunday when the weather is pleasant.

"Going to church isn't much different from what it was then," Mrs. Evers said. "Of course, you don't see the fine carriages hitched in front of the church. And people don't come to church in the morning bring along their lunch and stay for Sunday school as they used to."

"But we had missionary societies then and Sunday school, of course. Christian Endeavor is something new, started with the last thirty years, I think."

"They used to have a choir instead of a quartet, and we bought our pews and paid taxes on them instead of renting them."

Mrs. Evers has been a member of Old Stone church continuously for sixty-nine years. Since she first attended its Sunday school—when sixteen years of age—the minister, elders, trustees, ushers, choir and even members of the congregation have died or moved away.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Taking notice of the position ascribed to President Harding of opposing action by congress at present on the pending bill for disposition of Muscle Shoals, feeling that congress should have a free hand in making its decision, it was authoritatively said today at the white house.

Most advertisers do not misrepresent, but a few do, said Mr. Brennan, "and the honest advertiser can not force the dishonest one to desist from this practice, but the advertising medium, the newspaper, can, so can the public by refusing to deal with the concern that misleads."

By working in cooperation with a better business bureau, Mr. Brennan said, it would be easy to soon bar advertising that is questionable as to its facts and to force the advertiser to adhere to the truth in writing his advertisements.

AMERICAN LABOR
TURNS EYE UPON
EUROPE PROBLEM

(By the Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, June 13.—Although confronted with many problems, delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor turned their attention today to European labor affairs, the program calling for addresses by British labor delegates, who were sent to this country as fraternal delegates from the British trades union congress.

From the messages of these foreign leaders, the convention delegates expect to learn the policies practiced abroad that might be applied to this country, and also be informed of labor movements abroad especially in the aspects applicable to both American and European labor.

LEAGUE TO SEEK PROBE OF MAYOR

Visible Voters Also Open
Efforts to Get Change of Guard Captains.

The Visible Voters League, at its meeting Monday evening, adopted a resolution to rescind the attorney general to investigate charges that Mayor Fisher made promises prior to his election calculated to influence voters in his behalf. Judge Bolen submitted testimony taken by a court of inquiry held by him and this was read to the meeting. It was to the effect that the mayor had at least indirectly intimated that he would make certain appointments in case of his election and that on the strength of these a number of men had worked for him on the day of the election.

This testimony will be turned over to the attorney general and it rests with him if any action is taken.

Another resolution demanded that Capt. Robert Kerr resign his command of the national guard company and that the governor be requested to call for his resignation in case it is not tendered voluntarily. The resolution charged that he is reported to be active in Ku Klux circles and is therefore an unsuitable man to command the national guard.

Klan is Attacked.

A set of resolutions was adopted stating the principles of the League chief of which is its uncompromising opposition to the Ku Klux and any candidate who is a member of the order or in sympathy with it. A committee was appointed to investigate and report on every candidate from governor down. It was declared that the League is not organized to push the candidacy of any particular candidate, but primarily to oppose the Ku Klux and the men it is supposed to favor. All resolutions were adopted without discussion and without dissenting vote. At the close of the regular business Judges U. G. Win and J. W. Bolen were called for.

"But we had missionary societies then and Sunday school, of course. Christian Endeavor is something new, started with the last thirty years, I think."

FRAUDULENT AD
MAY BE BARRED
IN NEWSPAPERS

MILWAUKEE, June 13.—Suggestions as to the elimination of fraudulent advertising in newspapers and the barring of "tricksters" from the columns of the newspapers were made here today by E. J. Brennan, manager of the St. Louis Better Business Bureau, in an address before the National Association of Newspaper executives, assembled jointly with the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

By working in cooperation with a better business bureau, Mr. Brennan said, it would be easy to soon bar advertising that is questionable as to its facts and to force the advertiser to adhere to the truth in writing his advertisements.

GIRL PRODIGY IS BEST SPORT
IN HER SCHOOL

(By the Associated Press)

BRYN MAWR, Penn., June 13.—When Miss Gertrude Prokosch is graduated from Bryn Mawr college this month she will establish the record for the youngest girl to receive a diploma from that educational institution for women. She will not be nineteen until August and is a daughter of Dr. Edward Prokosch, professor of German at Bryn Mawr. Furthermore, she will be fourth in her class. Her major subjects are French and German.

Disillusionment awaits those who think Miss Prokosch is a prodigy or a "grind." Aside from her scholastic achievement, which is in the way of completing the regular four year course at Bryn Mawr in two, she has made the highest strength test record in the history of the college, although she is of very modest physical proportions. Her record is 575, breaking the old record of 565. The regular college strength system includes bar chinning and other gymnastic stunts.

Miss Prokosch's athletic prowess does not stop in the gymnasium. She is a swimmer of considerable ability, and also has done some notable track work.

HARDING ANXIOUS ON SUBSIDY BILL

President To Call Extra
Session if House Can Not Reach Plan.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—President Harding has notified Chairman Campbell of the house rules committee that unless the ship subsidy bill is passed prior to adjournment, he would feel obliged to call a special session solely for its consideration.

Writing under the date of May 26, the President said: "So much is involved and such difficulties and discouraging situations will follow if congress fails to sanction the merchant marine bill that I should feel myself obliged to call an extra session to consider it if it went over through any neglect or delay beyond the present term."

Action is Promised.

As a result of President Harding's insistence on speeding up consideration of the administration ship subsidy bill, the merchant marine committee, which recently concluded lengthy hearings, was preparing to report it to the house today.

Whether the bill will be taken up by the house with a view to final action before adjournment of congress, was a question to be determined today by the republican steering committee. Discussing the desire of congress for an early adoption of a three day recess plan and some opposition to action on the ship subsidy bill at this time, republican leaders were understood to have promised the president they would put forth their best efforts to secure action on it.

It is understood that the bill will be put to a vote if necessary as a party measure, prior to any adjournment for the summer.

They entered heartily into the occasion.

Labor Condems It

CINCINNATI, June 13.—The ship subsidy bill, now pending in congress, was condemned by a resolution adopted unanimously today by the American Federation of Labor, as dangerous to public interests and structure of the nation's hope for sea power.

Andrew Furuseth, president of the international seamen's union, told the convention that the bill probably would be reported tomorrow in both houses of congress, with committee recommendations that it be enacted into a law. On Furuseth's motion, the convention voted to wire a protest to congressional leaders opposing favorable action.

BIBLE THOUGHT OF TODAY

THE ONLY WAY:—I am the way, the truth and the life.—John 14:6.

CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

It may not be conducive to good government to permit huge sums being spent in the interest of candidates, but it is a mighty hard thing to stop. Oklahoma has had such a law on the statute books since the days of Haskell but it has been a joke. Every state officer makes affidavit on taking office that he has obeyed the law, but since no limit is put on what their "friends" may spend for them it does not matter much. They can swear to it all right and not be caught, either. The same thing prevails in other states and it will be some job to put an end to it. Of course this does not mean that the money thus spent is necessarily corruptly used. To put a bunch of campaign speakers in the field and to give the candidacy statewide publicity calls for a considerable outlay, and if the fight happens to be a hot one it is all the more necessary to spend a lot of money. This point of heavy expenditures is the one on which advocates of the old time convention plan base their arguments.

PLEASE THROW A BRICK

Senator Capper figures that during the first month of the consideration of the tariff bill by the senate the senators uttered 1,492,000 words about it, taking up 746 pages of the congressional record. The bill contains 438 pages and only 35 were considered during the month of heated oratory. We pass it up to some bug on figures to calculate when it will be concluded at this rate and how many words will have been uttered by the debaters.

Senator Capper says that in the debate the senators have discussed everything from the French Revolution of more than century ago to the Russian situation of today, the Einstein theory and proper length of women's skirts. He wants some heroic remedy applied to stop the flow of oratory. We suggest a few well aimed bricks. They have been known to silence a feline concert in the back yard and perhaps will work in case of the senators.

CAVE MAN STUFF.

And now comes a story from New Jersey about a fellow who got into trouble by following a bum steer given him by a friend. He inquired of this friend concerning the proper way of proposing to a girl. He was told that when he saw the girl who took his fancy to throw his arms about her and say, "I want you to be my wife." He tried it but instead of nestling contentedly in his manly embrace the unfeeling girl screamed for help. Now the guy has ninety days in the county jail in which to mediate on the cussedness of false friends and the incomprehensible ways of women in general and this one in particular who could not appreciate the much lauded cave-man methods of wooing.

Congressman Herrick squared an account with Senator Harrel a few days ago. Harrel had caused the senate to reject one of Herrick's postmaster appointees, so the story goes, and the congressman vowed vengeance. A few days ago a bill came up to pay the senator the sum of $732.29 for damages done his car in a collision with a government truck. It required unanimous consent to get it considered under special rule and Herrick promptly interposed his objection, thereby burying the claim so deeply on the calendar that it is not likely to emerge soon. Those fellows will yet learn that it does to pay to fool with old Manuel.

Charley Carter, congressman from the third district, has had easy sailing ever since his election at statehood, and is now the only member of the lower house elected at the advent of statehood nearly 15 years ago. This year, however, he may have a real race, Senator Wilburn Cartwright being out after the nomination. Cartwright has been a member of first the lower house and then of the senate for a number of years and is reported to be very popular in parts of Carter's district.

The Turks have a saying to the effect that "hurry comes from hell" and always avoid that path by putting off everything that can wait until tomorrow. According to their view American business men are victims of this escaped spirit and are being swept downward in its grasp. Hurry is sometimes a losing proposition but the man who is full of pep realizes the preciousness of time and hustles accordingly.

The Ardmoreite has been trying to get a straw vote on the governor's race but after more than a week only 40 voters have expressed themselves. This is one time that enthusiasm is confined mostly to the candidates, the people not making much of a racket about any of them.

The front some men put up reminds one of a stage scenery—very fine as long as you look only at the front and do not insist on looking behind it. To see the other side means a disillusionment.

Conscience at the Bathing Beach (Minneapolis Tribune)

Proprietors of a bathing beach at what is called the Coney Island of Washington, D. C., have laid down to bathers the rule "Let conscience be your guide" as to what is the proper thing to wear for beach and swimming purposes.

In other words, the duty of drawing the line between the modest and the immodest is to be left to the individual bather.

"We have," say the proprietors, "confidence enough in the modesty, decency and good taste of our patrons to let them determine for themselves what they should wear."

Two possibilities of this passing along of responsibility come readily to mind. Either there will be developed a voluntary beach morale among the bathers making it risky business for any bather, man or woman, to presume too far in the matter of dress—or undress—or the proprietors will find that there are bathers who do not remember to take their conscience along with them when they go to the beach.

The general experience at municipal beaches is that some very definite dress regulations are desirable.

As to the very great majority of bathers there is no need for dress codes. The innate modesty and sense of propriety of these are enough to insure unoffending garb, but there invariably are a few who seem to take delight in passing the dead line. The official curb is required to keep them within bounds, not merely for their own good, but for the sake of the sensibilities of others.

Experiences at municipal beaches also has shown that regulations may safely be modified from time to time for the reason that public sensibilities themselves do not always remain the same.

It will be interesting to observe the effect of the "conscience" principle at the Washington beach. If it can be made to work satisfactorily there, it ought to be possible to make it work elsewhere. Often times there are unexpectedly good results in placing responsibility directly upon individuals where it really belongs. Official censorship is desirable only as a last resort, whether it apply to dress, to the stage, to publications or what-not. It is always a question whether good morals can be developed under duress of law. There can be no doubt that the preferable way to develop them is thru the force of public sentiment and the collective conscience.

Whither are We Drifting? (Oklahoma News)

Most progressives regardless of party were cheered when they heard the news that Gifford Pinchot had beaten the Republican Old Guard in Pennsylvania and won the nomination for governor.

Then came a shock. It came with the publication of the fact that Pinchot's campaign expenses, for the nomination only, were $117,000—and the campaign for the election is only beginning.

George Wharton Pepper who was nominated at the same time in Pennsylvania for United States Senator has filed a statement showing expenses to secure the nomination only, of over $60,000.

It is worth while to take a good long look at these figures. They are not peculiar to Pennsylvania. They represent a drift in American politics. A drift toward what?

Toward a time when not only in such states as Pennsylvania, but everywhere, no man will be able to be a candidate for office unless he can spend money like a millionaire.

Already the path to political success of the poor man, or the man of moderate means, is usually effective by barrel—if he is honest.

If he is ready to serve men who are willing to put up these huge sums, he can make arrangements for the funds.

If the average man wonders why legislation opposed by the big interests has so much bad luck in delays and adverse votes, he may look behind these campaign funds for the cause.

The voter's interests are often sold out for funds spent to catch the voter's vote!

This makes a joke of popular government. If perpetuated, it will end all real liberty. It will forge fetters for predatory wealth and entrenched monopoly to rivet on the necks of all of us and of our children.

Mr. Pinchot had the money of his own to spend. The fact that he had to spend it is a tragic one. Pennsylvania is a good place to inaugurate some system, which would make such a use of money impossible. And Pinchot is the man to inaugurate it.

Our system of government is a failure unless public office can be aspired to, and won, by poor men who love their own honor.

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Read the Result

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I suffered for a year with nervous troubles and irregularities before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back pained all the time and I was unfit for housework. I was worn-out if I cooked a meal, and was unable to do my washing. My girl friends and my sister told me if I would take your Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills I would be relieved. After taking the first bottle I felt better, and neglected it awhile, but found I could not do my work until I was stronger. So I took the Vegetable Compound again and now I am the mother of a 19 months old boy. He is fat and healthy and I am sure I could never have carried him if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound. I recommend your medicine to all women although I am young to be advising some one older."—Mrs. CHRIST. PETROFF, 318 W. Liberty St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

There is no evidence to prove that the movements are imperiling the eye sight of the nation. Careful investigation leads to the opposite conclusion.

Recent improvements and greater care in operating the projection machines have almost entirely eliminated the mechanical defects, so you may be quite certain when your eyes trouble you while viewing moving pictures, it is due, not to the pictures, but to defective eyes which calls for optometry's aid.

The person with normal eyes will not suffer at picture shows unless visited to excess. At the very first indication of eye trouble call and let us make a careful, scientific examination of your eyes.

MILD CAMPAIGN IS NEARING END

Minnesota To Name Party Candidates in Primary On June 19.

ST. PAUL, MINN., June 13.—Minnesota's electorate will nominate party candidates for congressional and state offices in the state-wide primary election, June 19, after one of the mildest campaigns in recent years.

While interest in the primary was materially lessened by the workings of the major parties endorsed candidates for the various offices, subject to the primary, yet the appearance of a number of women's names on the ballot is causing much speculation as to the result.

Candidates endorsed by the party conventions go on the primary ballot with this fact stated after their names, while others filing for the same offices are entered as "independent" candidates for the nomination they seek.

Three parties have filed candidates for the primary Republican, Democratic, and Farm-Labor, the last named including factions allied with the National Nonpartisan League, which in previous campaigns has sought to capture the Republican nominations.

Senate Race Contested

While in some cases independents have filed for nominations in opposition to convention-endorsed candidates, only on one office the United States senatorial Democratic nomination is a close fight looked for generally.

Mrs. Anna Dickie Oleson of Cloquet, endorsed by the Democratic state convention for the senatorial nomination, has the opposition of two "independents," Homer Morris of Minneapolis and Thomas J. Meighan of Preston. Party leaders believe the real contest lies between Mrs. Oleson and Mr. Meighan.

Mrs. Oleson, presented with a small sedan automobile by friends of Minneapolis, is making an energetic campaign which will continue up to the primary election day, she declares. She drives from town to town, filling her speaking engagements.

Frank B. Kellogg, junior senator from Minnesota, was endorsed by the Republican convention for renomination and election. Earnest Lundeen of Minneapolis, former congressman, and Richard E. Titus of Minneapolis, have filed independently for the same nomination.

On the state ticket, Governor J. A. O. Preus and all other incumbents subject to party alliances with the exception of clerk of the supreme court, were endorsed by the Republican convention.

For clerk of the supreme court, the convention endorsed Miss Grace F. Kaercher of Ortonville, who is opposed by Herman Mueller of St. Cloud incumbent, elected two years ago with Nonpartisan league endorsement.

Farmers Run Warhorse

The Farm-Labor party has filed Henrik Shipstead of Minneapolis for the United States senate. He was the unsuccessful candidate of the Nonpartisan leaguers two years ago in the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The Farmer-Labor candidates include Miss Susie W. Stagberg, Red Wing, for secretary of state, and Miss Eliza Evans Deming, St. Paul, for state auditor.

In the congressional field, the principal contest involves Congressman Chas. R. Davis of the Third District, who is opposed for renomination on the Republican ticket by Ruben Thoren, Stillwater, the leader of the selection of the district convention.

Congressman A. J. Volstead of the seventh district, author of the prohibition enforcement act, is unopposed in the primary, but is expected to meet opposition in the fall election from Rev. O. J. Kyle of Benson, who has been endorsed by the Democratic and Farmer-Labor district conventions, and is expected to file as an independent after the primary.

Notice To All Automobile Owners

There are six vital points in operating a gas motor:

1. Lubrication is the life of a motor.
2. Change the oil in crank case every 800 miles at least.
3. Never change the oil in crank case without washing case.

(Reason) The grit, babbitt and steel settles to the bottom while standing and is left to circulate through the new oil and acts as sand paper on the bearing. Do not flush case with kerosene because of the danger of explosion and because the kerosene left in the case will eat the body and impair the lubricating value of the fresh oil.

4. Use an oil that has stood the government test.

5. See what you are paying for and guard against paying a high price for a cheap grade of black oil.

6. Stop at the A-1 Filling Station on West Main near Frisco Station. I WASH the crank case CLEAN of all grit and ground up steel FREE! We handle the best of Oil, Gas and Texaco products. I show you the oil before you buy.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

Cleveland county is organizing for a united fight on the boll weevils. A calcium arsenate machine will be bought and tried out, but the main dependence will be on the regular method of frequent plowings and brushings. This is one that all can follow and which is used in boll weevil regions in other states.

Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tipton located on a small tract of raw land a mile northwest of Ada on the Center road. Mr. Tipton is a well posted orchardist and once got busy putting out trees and berries. Altogether he has put out 1,000 trees and this year many of them are bearing for the first time. These consist of peaches, plums, apples, cherries, grapes and perhaps other fruits. He is just completing the harvesting and marketing of a fine crop of Austin dewberries. From a small patch he will get $300 or more and after deducting expenses of crates and picking will have $200 left. He put an ad in the News some days ago but soon had to take it out as he was swamped with orders. He has a lot of young berry vines which will bear next year, also a good sized patch of strawberries. He also has some raspberries and two vines of a berry that will prove highly popular when it becomes better known. It is a cross between a raspberry and strawberry and is most delicious, combining the best qualities of both berries. He is going strong on cherries, that fruit being much in demand here and also more certain than almost any other fruit. His grapes are bearing well.

Last year he raised many melons but will not do much in that line this season. He has a good sized patch of sweet potatoes and has a potato house that will care for several hundred bushels. He finds them good cow feed and will probably not sell many this year. Besides these features of his place he has a good patch of alfalfa for his stock.

In course of a few more years the Tipton place will be one of the most attractive and valuable in the country. It is just a question of the trees having time to grow for with the attention the orchard is getting it will become highly profitable.

I have often called attention to the pulling power of want ads in the News. Here is a case in point. Two weeks ago Mrs. Norrell inserted two lines telling of trying chickens she had for sale. The ad ran two days but she is still getting calls from it. It is possible to buy chickens cheaper elsewhere, but people are getting good stuff. Hence the News is a good medium to get in touch with the buying public.

Harvesting Irish Potatoes

One of the principal factors upon which the successful keeping of the spring crop of Irish potatoes depends is harvesting. Too frequently the spring crop of Irish potatoes is left in the ground until the plants are all dead and dried up and sometimes blown away. This is a mistake. Dig your spring crop of Irish potatoes when the plants begin to turn yellow in different portions of the patch and before they are baked by being left in the hot soil.

Plow out your potatoes early in the morning or late in the afternoon and avoid exposing them to the hot sun. In case the planting is large and it becomes necessary to harvest during the heat of the day, pick them up as soon as they are plowed out of the ground. Handle the potatoes carefully in order to avoid bruising.

Store the potatoes in a cool dry place where the sun will not shine on them. Potatoes harvested and stored as suggested above should keep with a very small percent of loss from rotting.

If you are a potato club member, select good, perfect, uniform sized tubers for your exhibit at the fairs this fall. A peck of Irish potatoes constitutes an exhibit. However, select two or three times this many in order that you may have an abundant supply from which to make your final selection. A. C. Mooring, Extension Horticulturist, A and M. College.

Produce Market Bulletin

Chicago, June 10.—Demand for creamy butter has been so good that even though production is probably heavier at the present time than ever before known, stocks have kept well sold to dealers wanting butter for current use and for storage purposes.

Under present time pasture conditions, prospect are for good production to continue for some little time.

Marketing of live hens in producing sections has been extremely heavy for the last ten days, indicating that the number of hens on farms is large and now that the laying season is about at an end, these fowls are being sent to market.

Demand for fresh dressed poultry also is good and even though the marketing of fowls should continue heavy, indications are for about present values to be maintained.

The movement of eggs at this time of year is normal, but with changing weather conditions, the demand may for eggs from more northern sections.

The government report of reserved stock of eggs in storage shows June this year 7,426,000 cases, as against 6,844,000 cases same time last year, or a surplus of about 20 percent. Under these conditions, it would look as though prices for the few months should be on a reasonable basis to keep eggs going into consumption rather than sending them to storage. Swift & Company.

Appetizing Picnic Vlans.

Now that Summer has arrived with its beautiful sunsets and dogwood blossoms, who can withstand the temptation of a nice dinner spread on the banks of some creek in the shade of a big oak with its leaves waving their welcome, so I will send a few helpful hints on preparing the lunch.

A cheese salad is easy to make and carry and always eaten by those who care for cheese in any form. Take cheese, moisten in a bowl with a little cream, roll into small balls and lay on lettuce leaves. This should be enclosed in a box by itself and then served from the box. The cheese balls are convenient to eat from the fingers as are also stuffed eggs used in making egg salad so that knives and forks may be dispensed with when packing up the lunch.

Egg Salad—Boil the eggs for ten minutes; then place them in cold water, to become thoroughly cooled, before taking off the shell, when cold and firm, shell and cut each egg in two; place the whites on a plate and the yolks in a bowl; mash the yolks with a fork until there are no lumps and then add enough rich cream to make a thick paste, with salt and pepper to taste. Refill the whites and place on lettuce leaves which have already been laid in a box of the right size, just hold the entire salad. After putting in all the eggs lay lettuce leaves over the top, so that when you wish to use the salad all you have to do is to remove the cover of the box and the leaves on top, and your salad is ready to serve from the box.

NET AND CHEESE SANDWICHES—Mix equal parts of grated cheese and dropped English walnut meats, season with salt and pepper and spread on buttered bread.

HAM SANDWICHES—Half pound boiled ham, put through the grinder with one green pepper and one pickle, season with salt and paprika and moisture with cream; spread on bread slightly buttered.

NUT PIE FOR SERVING AT PICNICS—Use the small, plain patties, line them with rich pie crust, finishing the top with extra strips of paste. Make a filling of one cup finely chopped nut meats. Add to them a pinch of salt, one tablespoon wine or a little lemon juice, half a cup of sugar and two beaten eggs, fill the prepared tins with this mixture, put some narrow strips of paste across the top of each pie and bake in brisk oven.

ICED TEA—Make one quart strained tea and all juice of one lemon; sweeten to taste and serve in glasses with chopped ice. —A Reader.

VEGETABLES IN U. S. LAST YEAR WORTH BILLION

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON.—Vegetables grown in the United States in 1921 had an estimated value of $1,104,000,000, according to the Department of Agriculture. This was 15.7 percent of the total value of all crops. The products of market gardens, which may or may not have been productive enough to be farms in the census definition, are not included in these estimates.

The total value of truck vegetables produced for sale, often called the commercial crop, was estimated by the department at $227,000,000. The potato crop had a farm value of $385,000,000 and the sweet potato, $87,000,000. Together, these two crops comprised 43 percent of the value of all vegetables in 1921. The tomato crop of 1921 had a farm value of $60,000,000; the cantaloupe crop was worth $17,000,000; the cucumber, watermelon and cabbage crops each had a value of about $15,000,000.

Farm gardens are a new item in the vegetable list and had an estimated value of $405,000,000 in 1912. The value of the vegetable crop in relation to prominent single crops and to groups of crops has some striking ratios for 1921, a year when the values of the large crops were low the department pointed out. The total value of the vegetable crop for 1921 was 85 percent of the value of the great corn crop; it was almost as large as the value of the hay and forage crops; it was nearly one-half as large as the value of the dairy products; it was considerably larger than the value of all poultry products; 45 percent larger than the value of the winter and spring wheat crops.

Store the potatoes in a cool dry place where the sun will not shine on them. Potatoes harvested and stored as suggested above should keep with a very small percent of loss from rotting.

If you are a potato club member, select good, perfect, uniform sized tubers for your exhibit at the fairs this fall. A peck of Irish potatoes constitutes an exhibit. WHEAT CROP OF STATE TO NEED WORKERS SOON

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 12.—Oklahoma's wheat fields will be ready for outside labor by the middle of this week, according to present indications, according to Claud E. Connally, state labor commissioner. Mr. Connally said that by "outside labor" is meant harvest hands who do not live in the immediate vicinity of the area where work is progressing.

Because of the long drought of last fall and winter, and the invasions of green bugs this spring, the wheat harvest crop is considerably less than last year and all southern counties apparently are meeting their own needs in supplying labor for harvest, he said. Mr. Connally added that reports which field agents of his department have submitted indicate that no outside labor will be needed south of Blaine county.

These reports constitute one of the principal features of the state labor department's extensive system for supplying harvest hands.

Mr. Connally said that only about 4,000 outside workers would be needed in Oklahoma this year, approximately half the number given employment in 1921. He said the wages offered in advance of the beginning of work are from $2.00 a day to $3.50, the lowest being, however, for local workers. He said the lowest wages offered where it is necessary for a man to travel to obtain work is $3.00.

This was 15.7 percent of the total value of all crops. Mr. Connally said that the fact that much of the wheat acreage in the state has been abandoned has placed many former employers in the employee class with the result that each community is supplying more of its own labor this year than usual.

Mr. Connally said that a large number of persons have been registered through the state by labor bureaus and in small towns by mayors. These will be available for work in the harvest fields and can plow.
